STORIES OF D&I BEST PRACTICES
Please send us your stories.

ACTIONS TO HELP ACHIEVE THESE GLOBAL D&I BENCHMARKS

☑ 3.2 (GDIB CATEGORY 3: D&I STRUCTURE AND IMPLEMENTATION, LEVEL 5 BEST PRACTICE). Leaders at all levels lead the organization's D&I initiatives and are regarded as D&I champions.

AND

☑ 3.3 (GDIB CATEGORY 3: D&I STRUCTURE AND IMPLEMENTATION, LEVEL 5 BEST PRACTICE). Diversity networks serve as partners and advise on recruitment, communications, risk management, product and service development, community engagement, and other organizational issues.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION GOES ENTERPRISE WIDE

Lori Campbell, Ph.D., Diversity Manager at Enbridge, Inc. in Edmonton, Alberta shares these best practices: The Enbridge Diversity and Inclusion team has long referenced the GDIB in its work in Canada, but the opportunity to really leverage the value of the GDIB came when the Diversity and Inclusion role was extended to develop and implement the strategy across the organization. In developing the strategy with the newly formed enterprise steering committee, we leaned on the GDIB to provide us signposts for our evolution and progress as a committee.

Enbridge’s commitment to D&I resources, staffing and support is exemplary – a full team, dedicated to the development and implementation of the strategy. The Enterprise Diversity and Inclusion Steering committee is comprised of senior level leaders and chaired by an Executive Leadership Team member. The next layer – the Diversity and Inclusion Advisory Groups - are being stood up to represent the breadth and depth of our employee base, but also in various locations to make sure the benchmarks are interpreted in ways that are responsive to local needs, issues and culture. Finally, Enbridge proudly supports eight active Employee Resource Groups that bridge the work lives of their community with the business strategy of the organization. The quality of the events and initiatives the ERGs sponsor involved over 3,300 employees last year and ranged from the experiences in families of a child coming out as LGBT+ from a parent and a child perspective, to mentoring young Aboriginal girls to intercultural competence. Taken together, these various levels of governance provide every leader and employee the opportunity to participate in D&I in real and meaningful ways and the GDIB provide such clear illustrations of what those actions look like when they are fully realized.

Headquartered in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, Enbridge, Inc., is an energy delivery company focusing on the transportation, distribution and generation of energy, primarily in North America. Enbridge, Inc. is one of the GDIB sponsors at the Forum on Workplace Inclusion conference. For additional information, contact Lori Campbell at lori.campbell@enbridge.com.

EXAMPLES OF HOW OTHERS ARE USING THE GDIB

HOW TIAA HAS USED THE GDIB

This example is provided by Steven H. Larson, Director, Diversity & Inclusion at TIAA, in Charlotte, NC, USA. TIAA is a Fortune 100 financial services organization that is the leading retirement provider for people who work in the academic, research, medical, and cultural fields. Headquartered in New York it has almost 13,000 employees operating primarily in the US.

In 2015 we launched a new diversity council in our largest business division. The council needed a framework to assess the organization’s progress and opportunities related to creating a more inclusive work culture. Under the leadership of the senior executive, we identified six categories of the GDIB that were most relevant to the initial work the council needed to do. These six formed the starting point for the council’s organizational assessment:

- Category 1: D&I Vision, Strategy and Business Case
- Category 2: Leadership and Accountability
- Category 4: Recruitment, Development and Advancement
- Category 7: D&I Learning and Education
- Category 8: Assessment, Measurement and Research
- Category 9: D&I Communications
The council self-selected into three teams, each focused on two GDIB categories. The GDIB was then used by each team to conduct an assessment of the business, rating progress on each dimension in their assigned categories.

Several important outcomes were achieved by using the GDIB to assess the organization. The teams identified “quick wins” -- simple items that could be implemented for big impact. One of these “wins” lead to the implementation of a multicultural calendar shared via the intranet to educate and create sensitivity to a broader array of important holidays and events. Further, the teams were able to identify and position a D&I vision and mission statement that was adopted and communicated by executive leadership.

The remaining work of the teams formed the base for a D&I strategic business plan. The plan included actions about greater focus on diversity in the talent acquisition pipeline, stronger emphasis on mobility for diverse talent, enhanced leadership development with a diversity lens on content, and deploying the council members as ambassadors to get the inclusion message out to managers and employees. “We highly endorse this conference. To me (Julie), it is the best overall D&I conference I know of – in the world. Here are some reasons:”

- The sessions are well vetted by a committee with strong conference management oversight.
  Topics and presenters are selected with much consideration as to what participants need as well as what they want.
- Many options and choices of session types and lengths.
KEYNOTERS include:
van Jones, civil rights leader, CNN political correspondent, former Obama advisor.
Subha V. Barry, VP and General Manager of Working Mother Media.
Admiral John C. Harvey, retired US Navy Commander US Fleet Forces.

Surprises. Yes. The Great Forum Gathering will have a BIG surprise. And there is a surprise prize at one of the networking sessions.
The exhibit section is a reasonable size and variety of exhibits.
It is well-organized and managed. This is the 29th year and it has evolved and gotten better each year.
Some sessions (BOLDER conversations, for example) will be deep dive discussions.
The organizers are not afraid to try new things, be innovative, and take risks.
There are many clever and entertaining, learning-oriented, design elements.
Attendees include D&I practitioners, leaders and others engaged in the work.
It’s a fairly good cross section of approaches, sectors, US and global. Although in my view it needs to be more diverse in those areas.
21 GDIB Expert Panelists and several users will be there presenting and attending.
Free, very fine, one-on-one coaching is available. Sign up in advance.
There’s a book store!
AND ... GDIB will again have a suite party -- Open House style. 5:30 to 10:30 pm on Wednesday night, March 29. Food and drink served continuously. Join us before dinner, for dinner, and/or for dessert. Stay the entire time or pop in and out. No program... just hanging out and conversations with your colleagues. Everyone welcomed.
Stop by the GDIB exhibit. Hang out; talk with our Expert Panelists and authors; tell us your stories, ideas, needs and wants; learn more about the GDIB.

We highly endorse this conference!!!!! Go here http://www.diversitycollegium.org/newsletters/Special_Forum_Edition_GDIB_News_Jan_17_2017.pdf to see a special edition of this newsletter that focuses on the participation of GDIB Expert Panelists

QUOTES FROM USERS

A new feature for the GDIB newsletter: Feel free to contribute.

“We customized the GDIB for cultural, localized meanings. When D&I was first introduced in Japan several years ago, it was seen as a western concept. In fact, there is not a Japanese character for the word ‘inclusion.’ The benchmarks accurately guided us when we broke ‘inclusion’ down into traits and other descriptive statements.”

Janelle Sasaki
Executive Director of Diversity & Inclusion Services
Ernst & Young Advisory Co., Ltd.
Tokyo, Japan

“The GDIB helps organizations get past the superficial trap of the Four Fs: Food, Fun, Fiesta, and Fetish, to be able to realize a more holistic, meaningful and professional D&I strategy.”

Jason D. Mak
D&I Manager
Office of Equity & Multicultural Services
Oregon Department of Human Services

“GDIB enhances our imagination about the real situation in diverse organizations, and inspires us towards new ways of working together.”

NEWS, REQUESTS, AND IDEAS

NEW ACTIVITY POSTED ON GDIB USER TOOLS SITE:
D&I APPROACHES INSIGHT AND IMPACT ACTIVITY

This 20 to 30-minute activity is designed to (1) educate participants on the Five Approaches to Diversity & Inclusion that are part of the GDIB and (2) help participants gain insight into the impact of the similarities and differences between their personal approach to D&I and their organization's approach to D&I and to determine how those differences or similarities might guide their actions. This one-page worksheet contains a summary of the Five Approaches and the activity instructions. Go here http://www.diversitycollegium.org/usertools.php to download the activity.
HOW DO YOU PLAN TO USE THE GDIB?

DESCRIPTIONS OF USE FROM THE GDIB PERMISSION AGREEMENTS

Recently, a potential GDIB user asked us what others said about how they planned to use the GDIB when they filled out the permission agreement. I was curious and selected the following to share the variety.

- Internal sharing and inspiring of good practices, specifically to the (organization) Diversity and Inclusion Steering Board, as well as on our internal collaboration platform, open to all employees.

- To explore the feasibility of using GDIB within various departments of (organization), specifically focusing on (name) departments and agencies.

- Information gathering and disseminating of Diversity and Inclusion best practices. Including but not limited to race/gender/ethnicity/sexual orientation/disability/veteran. Additional information regarding recruiting/retention/philanthropic and supplier diversity.

- The GDIB will be used to conduct a corporate wide diversity SWOT analysis. The information gained through the GDIB will be used to develop a diversity strategic plan.

- Organization (Note: this org has been using the GDIB since the 2006 edition and in 2016 we asked all "old" users to renew their agreement) uses GDIB as a tool to evaluate the existing and proposed policies, procedures and processes by our business units and functions world-wide to increase the inclusiveness and diversity of our teams in a regionally relevant way.

- We would like to use the GDIB to monitor and evaluate our Diversity and Inclusion strategy. We are currently starting the implementation process of our Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan.

- The Office of Diversity and Inclusion at will enlist the aid of the employee-led Diversity Council this year to update our Strategic Plan for Diversity and Inclusion. To gather qualitative data regarding progress made against the Plan’s goals to date, the Office would like to set up focus groups to administer the GDIB tool to the Diversity Council, some mid-level managers, and the senior leadership team, respectively.

- Academic article. Will outline GDIB model (written and illustrated) in addition to other approaches for article that will be submitted to the (organization) (at no profit). The purpose of the article is to educate (type) professionals with regard to Diversity and Inclusion Strategies/Approaches in Organizations.

SPANISH TRANSLATION GDIB COMING – WE ARE STARTING WORK ON IT – AND WE NEED MORE SPONSORS!!!!

We continue to get requests for a Spanish translation, and we have decided to move forward even though we need more sponsors to fund his. If you are interested, let Julie know and we’ll send you the information. We also have quite a few in-kind services, so we are set up for the actual translation and have several EP offering to read it and be sure it’s a good translation. In the next issue I’ll give you more of a progress report.
WANT A ONE-HOUR TRAINING WEBINAR ON GDIB FOR YOUR ORGANIZATION?

We can provide something for your Board, Executives, D&I Office, Diversity Council, ERG (Employee Resource Group), Human Resources Group, Marketing Group, Communication Team, or any other group. If you want a private webinar for your organization or to provide a gift to your community, focused on an overview or on a specific part of the GDIB, we are glad to do that for a fee ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000 depending on the degree of effort involved on our part to design it. The majority of the proceeds from this will go to the GDIB as a fundraiser. We will be sending you more information about this. We’ve had several requests for additional learning on the GDIB and this is one way we can provide that. Please remember that the GDIB itself is free and does not require certification to use. If you are interested, contact Julie for more information.

SOCIAL MEDIA TIPS FOR GDIB

Please Post Now - Share our news and promote D&I best practices by posting the below on your social media platforms:

The GDIB highly endorses this conference. REGISTRATION

Approximately 21 GDIB Expert Panelists, 2 GDIB Co-Authors, and the GDIB Team will be attending:
ASK THE EXPERTS – A Q&A SECTION

Please ask questions you have about the GDIB or anything D&I and we’ll ask answer it for you.

Is the GDIB an Open Source document?

No. Open Source is a software term stating that it is free, can be used and amended by others, and that derivatives may be created without permission. At times, the term is used to refer to work other than software. The GDIB is free. However, to use it the Permission Agreement (on The Diversity Collegium site) must be signed. And while GDIB can be customized, there are limitations to the customization, and derivatives may not be created without permission. GDIB is developed by the authors and 95 Expert Panelists. Some customized versions may result in changes that invalidate the work. See the Permission Agreement and the next Q&A regarding customization.

To what degree can we customize the Benchmarks?

If you change the word “employees” to “associates,” or make similar terminology changes, that would be acceptable. Changing the model to remove one of the four groups would be too radical a change to the GDIB and we would not give you permission to do that. Likewise, moving benchmarks from the beginning levels into the more advanced levels would be an inappropriate change. The integrity of the opinions of the authors and the Expert Panelists must be respected. See the GDIB Permission Agreement and the GDIB Style Guide on The Diversity Collegium website for more specific information or contact the authors.

BIOS OF EXPERT PANELISTS

Each issue of this newsletter contains four bios. Bios of the 95 GDIB Expert Panelists are also on www.diversitycollegium.org, navigate to Global D&I Benchmarks, and scroll to Expert Panelists.
